COURSE DESCRIPTION

The concept of nonviolence is often misunderstood, notwithstanding its utilization in a wide range of settings ranging from the interpersonal to the international. In this online summer course we will examine the ethics, efficacy, and aesthetics of nonviolence across an array of historical and current issues. Central questions covered in the course modules and interactive assignments will include: How has nonviolence informed social movements? What are its moral and strategic implications? Where is it practiced and by whom? What are the critiques of nonviolence? Throughout the process, we will explore the potential for nonviolence (both in its principles and practices) to inform our understanding of matters from the local to the global, drawing upon its diverse teachings to critically analyze contemporary issues through case studies and engaged projects.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

By the end of this course, students will be able to:

- integrate theory and practice
- develop a holistic view of nonviolence
- explore practices from the personal and local to the national and global
- converse with the myriad actors and points of reference in the field
- manifest an experiential engagement with the subject
- investigate current manifestations and applications
- cultivate effective approaches to addressing contemporary challenges
- envision and animate a world built on the tenets of nonviolence

Citation Style

Students may select any citation style appropriate to their field or area of interest, as long as they are clear and consistent throughout the term. Many in the justice/peace fields utilize The Chicago Manual of Style: http://www.chicagomanualofstyle.org/tools_citationguide.html.

Georgetown Library

Students enrolled in online School of Continuing Studies SCS coursework have access to the University Library System's eResources, including 500+ research databases, 1.5+ million ebooks, and thousands of periodicals and other multimedia files (films, webinars, music, and images). Students can access these resources through the Library's Homepage by using their University username (NetID) and password (this is the same login information used to access email). The Library does not mail physical items to students.

SCS students may make an appointment with a librarian to discuss a research topic, develop a search strategy, or examine resources for projects and papers. Librarians offer an overview of and in-depth assistance with important resources for senior or master's theses, dissertations, papers and other types of research. Appointments are conducted using Zoom videoconferencing software. It is recommended that students request appointment at least one week in advance of their desired appointment time (appointments are generally accepted between noon and 7PM EST Monday through Thursday). This service is available to currently enrolled students who need assistance with Georgetown-assigned projects and papers. Please review the Services & Resources Guide for Online Students for additional information.

STUDENT EXPECTATIONS

This course consists of 8 modules and an orientation. All modules are open and available to you at the start of the course for your planning purposes. However, the modules and activities must be done sequentially and certain activities and assignments must be completed by certain dates.

You are expected to complete all the course material. Each modules includes...

Participation is essential to your success in this class. In distance education courses you are required to participate just as if you were in a face-to-face course. This means that in order to get full credit for participation, you will have to complete all of your module activities and assignments by the assigned dates.

TIME EXPECTATIONS

Our online classes are designed to meet the same academic standards as our place-based (face-to-face) courses. Our accelerated modules truncate a 15-week class into 7.5 weeks while requiring the same level of participation, commitment, and academic rigor. Thus students should plan on spending 15-20 hours per week on the work for any online module.

COMMUNICATION STRATEGIES

Canvas

Georgetown University School of Continuing Studies (SCS) uses Canvas as its Learning Management System. This course will be taught entirely through the Canvas platform. To learn more about Canvas, please go through the Canvas Guide for Students.

Communication with Peers

You will be expected to communicate with your peers via the discussion board.

Email

In this course we will use Canvas to send email for private messages. You can either check your messages in the Canvas system or set your notifications to your preferred method of contact. Please check your messages at least once per day. When submitting messages, please do the following:

- Put a subject in the subject box that describes the email content with your name and module.
- Do not send messages asking general information about the class, please post those in the NEED HELP? question forum.

Questions

In online courses, everyone will likely have many questions about things that relate to the course, such as clarification about assignments, course materials, or assessments. Please post these in the NEED HELP? question forum, which you can access by clicking the DISCUSSIONS button in the course navigation links. This is an open forum, and you are encouraged to give answers and help each other.

Turnaround / Feedback

If you have a concern and send me a message, you can expect a response within 2 business days. Please allow 3 business days for assessment submission feedback.

Netiquette Guidelines

To promote the highest degree of education possible, we ask each student to respect the opinions and thoughts of other students and be courteous in the way that you choose to express yourself. The topics in this course are often controversial and promote debate. Students should be respectful and considerate of all opinions.

In order for us to have meaningful discussions, we must learn to genuinely try to understand what others are saying and be open-minded about others' opinions. If you want to persuade someone to see things differently, it is much more effective to do so in a polite, non-threatening way rather than to do so antagonistically. Everyone has insights to offer based on his/her experiences, and we can all learn from each other. Civility is essential.

And finally, what happens in a class discussion stays in a class discussion unless you receive permission from the instructor to share something outside the class.

COURSE ACTIVITIES AND ASSIGNMENTS

Students will produce papers and other artifacts throughout the course, with each weekly course module culminating in a specific project; in the final unit, students will submit a concluding project that integrates their overall learning on a substantial scale. There will also be short quizzes during the term, and required reflections on outside activities, special events, experiential components, and current events topics relevant to the course. At the mid-term point, there will be a required research-driven, analytical paper. During each module, students will be required to post items to the discussion board on a regular basis. Instructor feedback will provided regularly throughout the course, and each assignment will include an assessment guide. Final grades will be determined based on the points accrued throughout the course (see below). Each module will contain its own learning objectives.

PERCENTAGE ALLOCATION

Your course grade will be based on the following: The first four Modules will be worth 10 points each, and the final four Modules will be worth 15 points each (with the specific breakdown of points for the assignments within each Module noted below), for a total of 100 possible points throughout the term. Grade ranges will be as follows: A (100-91), A- (90-88), B+ (87-85), B (84-81), B- (80-78), C+ (77-75), C (74-71), C- (70-68), F (<68). Partial and fractional points may be awarded on particular assignments, and there may be opportunities for extra credit made available throughout the term depending upon available resources.

ABSENCES

There are no absences in an online course. Students are expected to complete all work by the due date. If a student fails to submit and/or complete any of the assignments due in a module, including participating in discussion postings, writing and research assignments, quizzes, and/or pear review activities, the student will receive a zero on the assignment.

MAKE-UP POLICY

In order to be excused from any assignment or activity in a module, you must have a doctor's excuse and permission from your Dean, and/or have secured my permission well in advance.

ACCOMMODATION

Under the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) and the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, individuals with disabilities are provided reasonable accommodations to ensure equity and access to programs and facilities. Students are responsible for communicating their needs to the Academic Resource Center, the office that oversees disability support services, (202-687-8354; arc@georgetown.edu; http://academicsupport.georgetown.edu/disability) before the start of classes to allow time to review the documentation and make recommendations for appropriate accommodations. The University is not responsible for making special accommodations for students who have not declared their disabilities and have not requested an accommodation in a timely manner. Also, the University need not modify course or degree requirements considered to be an essential requirement of the program of instruction. For the most current and up-to-date policy information, please refer to the Georgetown University Academic Resource Center website. Students are highly encouraged to discuss the documentation and accommodation process with an Academic Resource Center administrator.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

All students are expected to maintain the highest standards of academic and personal integrity in pursuit of their education at Georgetown. Academic dishonesty in any form is a serious offense, and students found in violation are subject to academic penalties that include, but are not limited to, failure of the course, termination from the program, and revocation of degrees already conferred. All students are held to the Honor Code. The Honor Code pledge follows: In the pursuit of the high ideals and rigorous standards of academic life, I commit myself to respect and uphold the Georgetown University Honor System: To be honest in any academic endeavor, and To conduct myself honorably, as a responsible member of the Georgetown community, as we live and work together.

Plagiarism

Stealing someone else's work is a terminal offense in the workplace, and it will wreck your career in academia, too. Students are expected to work with integrity and honesty in all their assignments. The Georgetown University Honor System defines plagiarism as "the act of passing off as one's own the ideas or writings of another." More guidance is available via Gervase Programs at: http://gervaseprograms.georgetown.edu/honor/system/53377.html. If you have any doubts about plagiarism, paraphrasing, and the need to credit, check out http://www.plagiarism.org.
