WELCOME

Dear Georgetown Graduate Student,

Welcome to the Hilltop! We are delighted that you are pursuing your graduate education at Georgetown and want to make the University a supportive and welcoming home for you. As you pursue your academic goals and delve more deeply into your field of study, you will be immersed in the life of an academic department. We also want you to become a part of the larger Georgetown University community and to make the most of your time here.

This Graduate Student Guide is designed to provide you with some basic information about services and programs available to you and to help you in navigating life at Georgetown. Please feel free to contact any of the offices listed for advice and answers to your questions. You have our very best wishes as you continue pursuing your educational goals.

Hoya Saxa,

Todd A. Olson

ACADEMIC & PROFESSIONAL RESOURCES

Academic Resource Center (ARC)

335 Leavey Center

Tel: (202) 687-8354

<http://www12.georgetown.edu/student-affairs/arc/>

Georgetown University is committed to ensuring that no student is denied access to its programs, facilities, services, activities, or otherwise discriminated against, on the basis of a disability. Consistent with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act, the University will make reasonable accommodations for students with documented learning, physical, or psychological disabilities. The ARC evaluates requests for accommodation on a case-by-case basis, in a manner designed to preserve confidentiality. In addition to resources available for students with disabilities, the ARC provides academic support for all students through individual consultations to determine appropriate steps in their academic development.

Career Services

Georgetown University is committed to providing professional career development resources to Georgetown University graduate and professional students. Students have access to career counseling, employment advising, on-campus interviewing, job and internship listings, and other programmatic services, which include career fairs, employer presentations, career panels and workshops.

The Career Education Center provides services to most degree-seeking graduate students who are not served by another career center. Students enrolled in the Georgetown Public Policy Institute, McDonough School of Business, School of Foreign Service, School of Medicine, graduate and professional programs affiliated with the Medical Center, and certificate programs should use the specialized program-specific services listed below.

The Graduate School is the academic dean's office for all graduate students. Our job is to help you succeed in your chosen field of study so that you can leave Georgetown having achieved your degree objectives. The Dean and the staff of the Graduate School monitor program quality and each student's degree progress under policies established by the faculty through our Executive Committee. The policies governing graduate student enrollment and degree progress can be found in the Graduate School Bulletin (<http://grad.georgetown.edu/pages/bulletin.cfm>). We work closely with a faculty member in every program who serves as the Director of Graduate Studies (DGS). Please do not hesitate to contact us or your DGS if you have any questions about degree requirements, financial aid, or other matters that affect your pursuit of a master's or doctoral degree.

Students in Medical Center graduate programs are considered part of the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences, but receive many of their services through the Office of Biomedical Graduate Education at the Medical Center, located in NE 303 Medical-Dental Building on 3900 Reservoir Road, NW. The office can be contacted by phone at 202-687-3690 or email biomedgrad@georgetown.edu; the website is located at <http://biomedgrad.georgetown.edu>

Off-campus Libraries

While in Washington, DC, you will have access to a vast array of libraries and archives, as well as research facilities at international agencies, trade associations, and service organizations. We have special arrangements with a number of these libraries to support your research and teaching.

Washington Research Library Consortium (WRLC)

Your GOCARD provides you entrance to the libraries of American University, Catholic University, Gallaudet University, George Mason University, George Washington University, Marymount University, University of the District of Columbia, and Trinity University. You may borrow books in person or have them delivered to the campus of your choice via the consortium loan service. Books are typically delivered in two business days. Copies of articles are delivered online to your desktop. <http://catalog.wrlc.org/>

The Chesapeake Information and Research Library Alliance (CIRLA)

Use of the libraries plus in-person borrowing for faculty and graduate students is available from Howard University, Johns Hopkins University, National Agricultural Library, Smithsonian Institution, University of Delaware, and the University of Maryland. www.cirla.org

Georgetown University-Library of Congress Connection

The Library of Congress, with 142 million items in 21 separate reading rooms, is one of the world's great research collections. LC welcomes public use of its general reference facilities, but it can be bewildering because of its size and complexity. The Georgetown University-Library of Congress Connection streamlines access for Georgetown University's faculty and students to LC's collections and services as a supplement to Georgetown University Library's resources. Just fill out the GU-LC Connection form to initiate a research consultation with a curator at LC; schedule an orientation for yourself or your class; or check availability of a conference room where a class could make use of materials from the LC collections. www.library.georgetown.edu/gu-lc

Tel: (202)687-5867

Web: <http://oip.georgetown.edu>

OIP supports a wide range of international and intercultural educational opportunities for members of the Georgetown community. The Division of International Student and Scholar Services (IS) supports over 1500 international graduate students and scholars from over 130 foreign countries as they navigate the complex requirements of their immigration status during their stay at Georgetown. IS provides an international graduate student orientation (IGO), immigration advising, cultural and educational programming and a wide variety of logistical tools to help non-US citizens derive the maximum advantage from their educational and research experiences at Georgetown. OIP also supports the Georgetown International Graduate Students Organization (GiGSO).

The Division of Overseas Studies (OS) develops and administers international educational opportunities overseas, supporting more than 140 study abroad programs in 38 countries across the globe. Currently, graduate summer study abroad programs are available in Santiago, Chile, Oxford, England and Fiesole, Italy.

OIP also provides support to a limited number of departmental graduate exchange and dual degree programs.

Office of Student Financial Services (OSFS)

G-19 Healy Hall

Tel: (202) 687-4547

Fax: (202) 687-6542

Web: <http://finaid.georgetown.edu>

The Office of Student Financial Services (OSFS) works with students to assess their ability to meet educational costs; awards need-based financial aid packages; and provides other available educational financing options to students.

Students who are U.S. citizens or eligible non-citizens may apply for need-based federal student financial aid by completing the following applications:

- The Free Application for Federal Student Aid \(FAFSA\)
- Georgetown University Graduate Supplement Form

Federal Loan Programs

William D. Ford Direct Subsidized and Unsubsidized Loans

Students must complete the required FAFSA. The Federal Direct Subsidized and/or Unsubsidized Loans are included as part of an eligible student's financial aid package. HEALTH & SAFETY

Counseling and Psychiatric Services (CAPS)

One Darnall Hall

Tel: (202) 687-6985

Web: <http://caps.georgetown.edu>

CAPS serves as the University's primary mental health service for its students and campus community. Our mission is to collaborate directly with students in overcoming difficulties that may interfere with the accomplishment of their educational, personal, and career goals. CAPS strives to provide students with opportunities to develop greater self-understanding, identify and solve problems, and improve academic performance through the alleviation of psychological, emotional, and cognitive impediments.

CAPS offers a range of psychological and psychiatric services including: (1) psychological evaluations, individual and group psychotherapy, and referral; (2) medication consultation and follow-up; (3) outreach and campus consultation; and (4) crisis assessment and intervention. For more information about the services offered at CAPS, please consult the website listed above.

Department of Public Safety (DPS)

116 Village C West

Tel: (202) 687-4343 (non-emergency), (202) 687-HELP (4357) emergencies only

Web: <http://publicsafety.georgetown.edu>

Georgetown University's location just within the perimeter of the city makes it a relatively safe haven in an urban environment. The University's Department of Public Safety (DPS) is in operation 24 hours a day. In an emergency off campus, call 911 to reach the DC Police and Fire Departments. Please contact DPS as well, to receive the additional resources and assistance you may need during and after an emergency.

As in any urban environment, it is important to be aware of your surroundings at all times and take proper precautions to ensure your safety and that of your property. Report suspicious activity to DPS immediately. Doors should be kept locked at all times. Travel in groups when you walk into the city at night. Call SafeRides (202-784-RIDE), an escort service for students traveling around Georgetown and the campus. Register your bicycle & laptop with DPS and insure your belongings in the event of theft. Please visit <http://safety.georgetown.edu/75517.html> for safety & security checklist.

Enroll in HOYAlert, the University's emergency notification system. Be aware of the Campus Alert System, which is an outdoor siren system that indicates the need to shelter-in due to a threat outside.

Additional Services:

- SafeRides: The SafeRides service enables students to request an individual ride to or from campus and any location in the Burleith or West Georgetown areas by calling 202-784-RIDE (7433). SafeRides is available Sunday through Wednesday from 8pm-2am and until 3am Thursday through Saturday.

The boundaries for these escort services are Whitehaven Parkway and W Street to the north, Prospect Street to the south, Foxhall and Reservoir roads to the west, and Wisconsin Avenue to the east.

- Individual Escorts: When SafeRides is not in service, you may call 202-784-RIDE to request an individual escort from DPS. The method of escort (walking, patrol car, SafeRides van) will be determined by DPS, based on the resources available at the time of your call. We encourage you to request an individual escort outside of SafeRides operating hours if you need special assistance or feel unsafe for any reason. The boundaries for these escort services are the same as the boundaries for SafeRides.
- Neighborhood Shuttle: Two shuttles operate to and from the main gates of campus (37th & O Streets) in continuous loops from 10pm-3am Thursday through Saturday during the academic year. One shuttle loops through Burleith and the other one loops through West Georgetown. Shuttle service begins on the first Thursday of the academic year and ends on the Saturday evening of commencement weekend. There is no Shuttle service Thanksgiving weekend, winter break, and during the summer.

For a map of the neighborhood please see:

<http://publicsafety.georgetown.edu/programsandservices/12862.html>

Georgetown Emergency Response Medical Service (GERMS)

2nd Floor Village C West

Tel: (202)687-7546 (not for medical care), (202)687-HELP (4357) emergencies only

Web: <http://germs.georgetown.edu>

GERMS is a student-run, all-volunteer ambulance service that provides free emergency care and transport to anyone calling from the campus and surrounding community, including the neighborhoods of Georgetown (west of Wisconsin Avenue), Foxhall, and Burleith. It operates seven days a week, 24 hours per day. All members are certified as Emergency Medical Technicians at the basic life support level (EMT-B) or higher. GERMS regularly responds to a wide variety of medical emergencies with an average response time of less than five minutes.

Health Education Services

207 Village C West

Tel: (202)687-8949

Web: <http://healthed.georgetown.edu>

Health Education Services is comprised of health professionals who are available to help students deal with a range of health issues, including sexual health, pregnancy, alcohol and drug use and abuse, eating disorders, sexual assault, relationship violence, stalking, stress, management, and general health promotion. All services are individualized, confidential, and free for students.

Lactation Center

206B Car Barn

The Lactation Room is located on the 2nd floor of the Car Barn in Room 206B and is available Monday through Friday, from 9:00am until 5:00pm. The room accommodates up to 5 women at one time and is available for any GU staff, faculty, or student with a valid GUID. It is equipped with a sink, comfortable seating, and ample electrical outlets near each chair. Nursing mothers will need to provide their own pump. Storage of personal belongings or milk in the room is not allowed.

For purposes of security and privacy, the lactation room is always kept locked. In order to gain access to the room, nursing mothers will need to present their valid GUID to check out a key from the front desk of the Office of International Programs (OIP), located just a short distance away in Suite 210 (2nd floor) of the Car Barn. Keys may be checked out by individual users only during the time that they need to use the room and must be checked back in immediately after each use.

If you have any questions, comments, or suggestions regarding the Car Barn Lactation Room, please contact Jane Banister, Director, Hoya Kids Learning Center, (jb39@georgetown.edu) or Laura Kovach, Director, The Women's Center (ljk23@georgetown.edu).

Student Health Center

Ground Floor Darnall Hall

Tel: (202)687-4500, Appointments: (202)687-2200

Web: <http://shc.georgetown.edu>

The Student Health Center (SHC) is the primary health care center for Georgetown students. Staffed by a team of Family Practice faculty physicians, nurse practitioners, nurses, and support personnel, these professionals are dedicated to working with students and providing quality health care. Students can receive the same scope of services that they expect in their family physician's office.

The SHC is located on the Ground Floor of Darnall Hall, operating regular office hours Monday through Saturday. Check the Student Health website for hours during the summer, and university holidays and breaks. When the clinic is closed, students can call the emergency/after hours clinician at (202)444-PAGE.

The clinic encourages students to make an appointment in order to receive the most time and attention, although urgent problems are attended to on a walk-in basis.

The SHC is an outpatient facility; if a student requires longer observation or overnight care, he or she is admitted to and cared for by physicians at the Georgetown University Hospital. Services include routine office visits, preventive health care, a variety of procedures and laboratory work, immunizations, and referrals. An outpatient pharmacy is located at Georgetown University Hospital (GUH). In the event of an emergency, care is available at the GUH Emergency Room and at other area hospitals (student and health insurance provider are responsible for cost of emergency room visits). GERMS, a student-run volunteer ambulance service, provides transport to Georgetown University Hospital.

As there is no Student Health fee at Georgetown, the SHC charges for all services. Students and parents should make the determination that their existing health insurance provides adequate coverage to include the cost of primary health care in the Washington, DC area. The University has arranged for an insurance plan that provides sufficient coverage should the student or parents so desire. Remember to submit your Immunization and Tuberculosis Screening Certificate to the Student Health Center. The form can be found on the Student Health Center website.

Student Health Insurance

31 Henle Village

Tel: (202)687-4883

Web: <http://studentaffairs.georgetown.edu/insurance/>

Georgetown University requires graduate students in a degree program who are registered for eight or more credit hours to have health insurance coverage. This requirement assures some relief of the burden of expensive health care to the students. Students who are required to have health insurance will be mandated to enroll in a 12 month plan if they do not have other insurance that is in effect prior to

Georgetown University Graduate Student Life Guide

September 15. The Premier Plan's Sickness and Injury benefits include worldwide coverage, national PPO network discounts, and pharmacy card prescription coverage.

*Detailed information about the health insurance plan (general, specialized and emergency coverage) is on the Student Health Insurance website.

SOCIAL PROGRAMMING & RESOURCE CENTERS

Below are a variety of offices, services, and resource centers we feel are most relevant to graduate students. However the list is not exhaustive, and students are encouraged to explore all the services offered by Georgetown University.

Campus Ministry and Religious Services

113 Healy Hall

Tel: (202) 687-4300

Web: <http://campusministry.georgetown.edu>

Georgetown's campus ministers provide pastoral care to students, faculty, and staff throughout the University. Campus Ministry's primary mandate is to help students grow in their faith through worship, reflection, and service. The Chaplains represent a variety of faith traditions, including Roman Catholic, Jewish, Muslim, Orthodox Christian, Protestant, and a variety of Student Ministries.

Center for Multicultural Equity and Access (CMEA)

5th Floor Leavey Center

Tel: (202) 687-4054

Web: <http://cmea.georgetown.edu>

The Center for Multicultural Equity and Access (CMEA) promotes educational excellence and racial equality at Georgetown by serving the interests of African American, Latino, Asian American, Native American, and multiracial students. CMEA offers a wide range of resources and services that promote academic success and personal development.

Center for Social Justice Research, Teaching and Service (CSJ)

130 Poulton Hall

Tel: (202) 687-5330

Web: <http://socialjustice.georgetown.edu/>

The Center for Social Justice (CSJ) provides opportunities for students to get involved in service and social action programs in a variety of ways, including staff-run programs, a preorientation program, alternative spring break trips and summer global immersion trips.

All of these opportunities have been designed to provide Georgetown students with an array of opportunities to explore the Jesuit ideal of men and women for others and to support the Georgetown mission of educating reflective lifelong learners.

Center for Student Programs

316 Leavey Center

Tel: (202) 687-3704

Web: <http://csp.georgetown.edu>

The Center for Student Programs (CSP) fosters student learning and development by educating the Georgetown community through co-curricular involvement. As advocates for student empowerment, we strive to engage students in meaningful participation and thoughtful reflection. CSP supports students in the building of a vibrant and diverse campus community with active cultural, academic, social, recreational, and political organizations and programming. Please see below for a current list of graduate student organizations.

Club Sports

316 Leavey Center

Tel: (202) 687-3704

Web: <http://studentorgs.georgetown.edu/clubsports>

The Club Sports Program is made up of 25 sports, which compete against other club sports from various colleges and university's nationwide. As student organizations, they are coordinated by student captains. These clubs can be a large commitment as most practice at least once or twice a week and compete in games on many weekends. For a complete listing of our sports please see the website.

Outdoor Education Program

473 Village C

Tel: (202) 687-0222 or (202) 687-8419

Web: <http://outdoored.georgetown.edu>

The Georgetown University Outdoor Education program runs a vast array of wilderness education and adventure opportunities that help participants learn new skills, develop self confidence, advance their leadership skills, and explore the wonderful outdoor opportunities near to the city, in the surrounding region, and around the world.

Georgetown International Graduate Students Organization (GiGSO)

The Georgetown International Graduate Students Organization (GiGSO) builds on the community of Georgetown's international graduate students, scholars, and visiting researchers through a network based on the common experience of studying abroad at the graduate level in the United States. It does this through a number of means:

- The organization of social events, allowing its members to meet across all departments in informal settings
- The organization of formal events, such as lectures, career-related workshops and other activities serving the interests of its members
- The building of a knowledge base of issue-areas of concern to its members, such as housing, extracurricular school activities and logistical issues encountered when arriving to and living in the United States, and using that knowledge base to facilitate student-to-student advice and assistance
- By serving as an international graduate student advisory board to the Office of International Programs (OIP)
- By establishing an alumni network to serve as a resource for international students

Georgetown University Department of Performing Arts

Davis Performing Arts Center

Tel: (202) 687-3838

Web: <http://performingarts.georgetown.edu>

The Georgetown University Department of Performing Arts (DPA) coordinates a variety of programs that emphasize both the cultural and educational aspects of the arts. These programs include performing arts ensembles in music, theater, and dance; concerts and productions; master classes and workshops; applied music lessons; collaborative productions with professional companies like Arena Stage, American Opera Theater and the Post- Classical Ensemble; internship programs with NPR and the Kennedy Center; and summer theater performing opportunities.

Georgetown University Student Veterans of America (GUVSA)

Web: <http://www.georgetown.edu/veterans.html>

The Georgetown University Student Veterans of America (GUSVA) is made up of veterans, dependents, and active duty personnel that have already made the transition to college life. Veterans face many difficulties not seen by typical college students, and we will answer all of your questions concerning but not limited to the following topics: VA and DOD educational benefits; student financial aid; student physical and mental health care. All incoming military, veterans and dependents are welcome to attend the GUSVA information session on Monday, August 30, 12:30pm-1:30pm in the Leavey Center Program Room (located next to the entrance of the Georgetown Bookstore). We would also like to take this time to introduce our leadership and provide access to our members. We look forward to meeting you. For more information, please contact President Erik Brine (egb22@georgetown.edu) or Vice President Colby Howard (ceh63@georgetown.edu). Also, become a fan of GUSVA on Facebook to get all the latest updates.

Georgetown University Veterans Office

224 Car Barn

Tel: (202) 687-2708

Email: veteranservices@georgetown.edu

Web: <http://www.georgetown.edu/campus-life/offices-resources/veterans/index.html>

The Georgetown University Veterans Office connects Student Veterans with the resources they need to successfully transition from combat to classroom to career. This includes help navigating the Admissions process, applying for Financial Aid and VA Education Benefits, seeking academic assistance, and preparing to re-enter the workforce. The Veterans Office Coordinator can provide general information on how to use resources or can link the Student Veteran with the appropriate people on campus to address more in-depth questions. The Coordinator also assesses how the needs of Student Veterans are being met and identifies new concerns and how the University can address them.

The Graduate Student Organization (GSO)

Tel: (202) 687-7024

Web: <http://www12.georgetown.edu/students/organizations/gso/index.html>

The Graduate Student Organization (GSO) is committed to enriching the experience of students enrolled in graduate programs at Georgetown University. Recognizing the incredible array of skills and interests graduate students bring to the Georgetown community, the GSO seeks to create opportunities for graduate students to develop professionally, socially, and academically.

The Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender, Queer, and Questioning (LGBTQ) Resource Center provides education, programming, support services, and voice to Georgetown students, faculty, staff, and alumni of all sexual orientations and gender identities. We are committed to understanding sexual orientation and gender identity in the context of and as it intersects with race, religion, ethnicity, nationality, ability, socio-economic status, and culture. The Center works toward a holistic understanding of LGBTQ communities; it takes leadership in providing and supporting a broad array of services, programs and resources to the campus community. Inspired by the Catholic and Jesuit principles of respect for the dignity of all, cura personalis, equality, and education of the whole person, the Center seeks to establish a safe, inclusive and welcoming environment for LGBTQ community members and promote better understanding and integration with the entire campus community.

The Center participates and collaborates with all undergraduate and graduate student organizations, departments and units in annual celebrations and activities such as Pride, Coming Out Week, Gender Liberation Week, and Lavender Graduation; offers ongoing discussion and dialogue groups; and provides support services including health education, financial counseling, crisis intervention, and mentoring. For more information, e-mail: lgbtq@georgetown.edu.

The Division of Student Affairs provides programs and services to support student and enrich their learning experience at Georgetown. Learning takes place in all parts of students' lives and is centered in their academic experiences. This learning is enriched by many forms of campus life and involvement. An array of services is also here to support students – to assure their health and wellness, assist with their career development and meet with a variety of personal and academic needs. Working with our faculty and staff colleagues, Student Affairs strives to create a vibrant campus community. Our staff and programs aim to encourage and support Graduate student involvement in the variety of different events, programs and associations on campus. Our presence and services are designed to support and encourage the many Graduate student needs and issues. We encourage them to explore the values, beliefs and commitments that guide their actions. Our work with students builds on the Jesuit tradition of cura personalis – care for the person: educating the whole person in body, mind and spirit.

Tel: (202)687-2700

Web: <http://GOCard.georgetown.edu>

All members of the Georgetown community are required to carry a GOCard, an “all-in-one” ID card that streamlines and simplifies daily campus life. All students are expected to carry their GOCard on campus as a means of identification and present it when requested by University personnel. Issued to each registered student free of charge, the GOCard is used to permit access to residence halls, libraries and other secured buildings on the three campuses, as well as free transportation on the GUTS buses. The GOCard also functions as a debit card by adding money through Deposit Stations, the Online Card Office, Student Account Refunds, or the GOCard Office. The GOCard is the preferred method of payment for the purchase of goods and services at the University bookstores, vending machines, copy machines, laundry machines, food establishments, and other businesses that are partners both on and off campus. Additionally, the GOCard is linked to meal plans, Flex Dollar account, library circulation, and the usage of athletic facilities. The replacement fee for a lost, stolen, or damaged card is $25. New students must submit a photo by email to GOCardphoto@georgetown.edu or by mail to the GOCard office to have their GOCards pre-printed prior to arriving on campus. Deposits may be made with a Visa or MasterCard at <http://onlinecardoffice.georgetown.edu> or with a check made out to GOCard and mailed to Georgetown University, GOCard Services, Box 571110, Washington D.C. 20057-1110.

The Georgetown University Transportation Shuttle (GUTS) serves students, faculty, staff, and visitors going to and from the University Main Campus, the Law Center, and Metro stations. The GUTS schedule can be viewed on the web.

Student Parking

Students who reside in residence halls, University-owned townhomes, in the District of Columbia, or in the North Arlington area are not authorized to obtain on-campus parking decals. Depending on availability, students living off campus and outside of the District of Columbia and North Arlington areas may be able to purchase parking decals for satellite parking. It is also not possible to park on the streets outside the main gates because of District of Columbia restrictions on residential parking. Therefore, students are strongly urged not to bring a car or motorcycle to campus. For those students who are eligible, parking decals for the 2010-2011 academic year are approximately $699.50 per semester. Students may park in the general visitor lot where the fee is $15.00/day (6:00am-5:00pm). Parking after 5:00pm is available to students with a valid University ID for a $3.00 fee.

Bicycles

Outdoor racks are provided on campus for students' bicycles, and bicycles may only be parked on those designated racks.

Capitol Bikeshare

Two docking stations for this region-wide bicycle sharing system are located near Georgetown. One is located just outside the front gates at 37th St. and O St., and a second is at 34th St. and Wisconsin. For additional information, visit <http://www.capitalbikeshare.com/>
