Georgetown University, MPS IMC | FALL 2015
MPMC-500-01: CONVERSATIONS ABOUT ETHICS
Class Meets: Monday, 5:20 pm – 7:50 pm
Class Location: Room: C227

Please Note Special Dates: Class begins on Wednesday, Sept. 2 (the only Wednesday class, all other classes are on Monday); no class on Monday, Sept. 7 (Labor Day) or October 12 (Columbus Day). This class includes an additional, required 150-minute, make-up session on Saturday October 24 to provide a full semester of instruction.

Professor: Paula Weissman, PhD
Office Hours: Arranged by appointment.

COURSE DESCRIPTION
The process of educating the whole person starts with the study of ethics. The concept of IMC requires practitioners to look across multiple communications disciplines and consider each one’s unique challenges. At the same time, the practitioner holds the consumer’s wants and needs as the guiding force for planning. Looking at ethics through a professional lens, students are asked to explore their own values and are challenged to codify and commit to their own code of ethics in relation to a broad range of professional codes of conduct and best practices. Students will gain a solid foundation in ethics and relate what they learn to their own professional situation through class discussions, case studies, and guest lectures conducted by industry experts. This course is required for all MPS students and must be completed by the second semester in the program. Foundational concepts in ethics are woven throughout the program’s other courses and revisited throughout a student’s tenure.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES
By the end of the semester, students will be able to:
1. Describe major philosophical, moral, and industry frameworks used to guide ethical decision making.
2. Identify professional standards and codes used to encourage best practices across multiple communication disciplines used by IMC practitioners.
3. Apply relevant frameworks and codes to complex professional situations to determine ethical courses of action.
4. Develop their own personal code of ethics to guide their professional careers.
5. Recognize, evaluate, and recommend solutions to ethical challenges at work before they become reputation or legal problems.

REQUIRED READINGS
The resources for this course include articles, book excerpts, electronic documents, and case study materials in a variety of formats. There is no required textbook for this class. All materials will be provided to you online via Blackboard. Readings not included in the initial syllabus will be provided later in the semester so we can review real-time cases and current events.

SUBMITTING WORK
All papers for this class should be typed in 12-point, plain font, double-spaced with one-inch margins on both sides. Upload all your assignments as a Word document attachment in the spot indicated in Blackboard; no hard copies are necessary. (Please do not convert your document to pdf format or submit via GoogleDocs). Presentations should be submitted in hard copy format at the beginning of the class on the day you present.

COURSE POLICIES

Attendance
In-class discussion and practice are essential to mastering the content of this course. Students are expected to attend every class and arrive on time. If you are detained from attending a class or arriving before it begins, you are responsible for notifying me via email prior to the start of class. Missing more than two classes will result in a final grade reduction of one level (for example, an A will be converted to an A-). Absences from classes, beyond the initial two, will result in further reduction of the final grade. If you are absent for more than four classes, you will be in danger of failing this course. You are responsible for classroom information and instructions, whether you are present in class or not. If you must miss a class, it is your responsibility to make arrangements to obtain class notes.

Classroom Etiquette
A successful class depends on the active engagement of all students. Students should turn off all cell phones, pagers, or other communication devices while in class. Class discussions should be respectful and considerate of others’ views and opinions. Laptops are allowed, but you must be using them for taking notes or class activities. The use of laptops for personal reasons during class time is not permitted.

Late Work
All work is due by the beginning of class on the due date. I will deduct 5% of the grade for each day your assignment is late. I will not accept assignments submitted more than 7 calendar days after the original due date. Extensions will be granted in extraordinary circumstances. If you need an extension, it is up to you to contact me in advance with a request. I will not retroactively offer extensions for late work.

Incompletes
I will not offer incomplete grades, except in the most exceptional, unforeseeable circumstances. Job requirements do not qualify.

ASSIGNMENTS
You are expected to submit work on time and of high quality. Please refer to the course schedule and plan your timetable for completing assignments in advance. All grading criteria, including page length and essential content, will be distributed in advance and discussed in class. Please do not hesitate to ask for guidance if you do not understand the scope of the assignment. Feedback on all final assignments will be provided in a timely manner; no more than 2 weeks after the assignment was turned in.

In Class Preparation and Discussion: 60 points (15% of your grade)
This class is a collaborative, interactive, fast-paced format. You are expected to be present, prepared, and participatory having read all assigned materials and contributing constructively to discussions. You will also be tasked with sharing “hot topics” from the week’s trade publications, social media spaces, and/or news cycles, and submitting articles, ads, or other items as instructed to spur class discussions. Your participation is judged by the way in which you contribute to positive, thoughtful class discussions. We will together create a supportive forum for intellectual deliberation with class discussions that are respectful and considerate of others’ views and opinions.

Personal Paper: 60 points (20% of your grade).
In this assignment, you will identify and discuss influences that have shaped your personal ethics to date. Your 4 to 5-page, double-spaced paper will analyze and discuss these influences in relation to three or more philosophical, moral, and/or industry frameworks. This analysis will likely form the background for your Personal Code of Ethics.

Short Position Papers (5% per paper = 10%)
You will write two short position papers (2 pages, double-spaced) in response to a focused question that addresses a major theme in the class. You should support your position on the issue by referencing relevant course readings and/or materials.

Case Study Presentation (10% of your grade)
Presentations in class (Date TBD by Student Sign-up)
You will be put in small groups. Each group will develop a 5 to 7-minute case study presentation to the class. You should select a case that presents an ethical challenge related to the content area we are covering in your assigned week. You presentation should conclude with 3 thoughtful discussion questions that encourage the class to examine the case from one or more ethical frameworks or professional codes. Submit hard copy of presentations/handouts at the start of class on your presentation date.

Team Challenge: 80 points (20% of your grade)
You will work as a group to develop a presentation in response to a team challenge. Students will sign up for one of two dates, Dec. 7 or Dec. 14. The instructor will assign teams. Teams will be presented with an ethical communication challenge. Each team will develop a response that outline’s the team’s course of action in response to the challenge. Teams will present their scenarios and recommendations to the class, defending their chosen course of action. Submit hard copy of presentations/handouts at the start of class on your presentation date.

Personal Code of Ethics: 100 points (30% of your grade)
The final written paper consists of an 8 to 10-page paper outlining your personal code of ethics. It should be written in the format of a formal ethics code. This code will become the cornerstone of your personal ethos and will be used in your Capstone course. We will discuss your creation of this code extensively throughout the course, and you will have an opportunity to workshop your draft code in class.

GRADING
Your course grade will be based on the following:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>

Graduate course grades include A, A-, B+, B, B-, C, and F. There are no grades of C+, C-, or D.

Below is the grading scale that will be used when converting the total percentage of points earned in the class to a letter grade:

Grading Scale:

A 100 - 93
A- 92 - 90
B+ 89 - 88
B 87 - 83
B- 82 - 80
C 79 - 70
F 69 and below

The instructor will provide a warning by mid-semester to any student who appears to be on track for a poor final grade.

UNIVERSITY RESOURCES
Georgetown offers a variety of support systems for students that can be accessed on main campus or at the downtown location:

- MPS Writing Resource Program

STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES POLICY
Students with documented disabilities have the right to specific accommodations that do not fundamentally alter the nature of the course. Students with disabilities should contact the Academic Resource Center (202-687-8354; arc@georgetown.edu; http://ldss.georgetown.edu/index.cfm) before the start of classes to allow time to review the documentation and make recommendations for appropriate accommodations. If accommodations are recommended, you will be given a letter from ARC to share with your professors. You are personally responsible for completing this process officially and in a timely manner. Neither accommodations nor exceptions to policies can be permitted to students who have not completed this process in advance.

GEORGETOWN HONOR SYSTEM
All students are expected to maintain the highest standards of academic and personal integrity in pursuit of their education at Georgetown. Academic dishonesty in any form is a serious offense, and students found in violation are subject to academic penalties that include, but are not limited to, failure. of the course, termination from the program, and revocation of degrees already conferred. All students are held to the Honor Code. The Honor Code pledge follows:

In the pursuit of the high ideals and rigorous standards of academic life, I commit myself to respect and uphold the Georgetown University Honor System: To be honest in any academic endeavor, and To conduct myself honorably, as a responsible member of the Georgetown community, as we live and work together.

PLAGIARISM
Stealing someone else’s work is a terminal offense in the workplace, and it will wreck your career in academia, too. Students are expected to work with integrity and honesty in all their assignments. The Georgetown University Honor System defines plagiarism as “the act of passing off as one's own the ideas or writings of another.” More guidance is available through the Gervase Programs at http://gervaseprograms.georgetown.edu/honor/system/53377.html. If you have any doubts about plagiarism, paraphrasing and the need to credit, check out http://www.plagiarism.org.

SYLLABUS MODIFICATION
The syllabus may change to accommodate discussion of emerging topics. Also, the schedules of guest speakers may require some shifting of the agenda. The instructors will make every effort to provide as much advance notice as possible for any alterations.
