Master's in Real Estate Program

The panel event, "Managing Global Real Estate Transactions," aims to highlight critical skills to work on local and international deals in the globalizing real estate industry. Panelists will discuss their experiences working globally, facilitating domestic deals with international funds, working on development projects for multinational firms in multiple regions of the world, and highlighting the impacts from global trends experienced in the local and national real estate arenas.

Special Showing: At the beginning of the panel, a video will highlight the master's in Real Estate alumni working in the field of international real estate.
